

About Us

Applied Systems, Inc. is a privately held Florida corporation that has been located in Southern Florida since 1983. Applied Systems provides design and consulting services to companies worldwide.

Consulting services are available for product feasibility studies, market research, and electronic design. These services are provided to customers who wish to temporarily expand their internal engineering capacity, to customers who may be unfamiliar with specific technologies, and to customers who do not possess the necessary experience or capability to perform advanced system design and implementation.
